Fire Department Celebrates 25th Anniversary Saturday

(The following article is the first in a series about the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad now celebrating its silver anniversary.)

The Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad, Inc. and Ladies Auxiliary are celebrating their Silver Anniversary at a banquet on Saturday, March 22 at the Elks Lodge No. 1778 in Riverdale. Pictures of members and equipment through the years will be displayed.

Early History

The first fire equipment in Greenbelt was furnished by the Federal Government in 1936 for use as firefighting protection during the construction phase. During this early period the fire department was part-paid, with three 2-man platoons on 8 hour shifts. The rest of the firefighting force was made up of personnel from the guard force employed by the Government and workers on the project.

During the World War II years, the firefighting personnel was assisted by a group of volunteers who were trained under the Civil Defense Auxiliary Fire-fighter Training program. This group was paid at the rate of 75c to $1 per call.

In November 1946, the Greenbelt Volunteer Rescue Squad was organized. These men, and the volunteers from the fire department group, raised funds by solicitation, dances and carnivals, in order to maintain the necessary equipment. Many times they had to pay for gasoline out of their own pockets to continue in service.

In February 1955, the local fire department was converted into a volunteer organization. Most of the members of the fire department were also members of the rescue squad and when the city relinquished control of the fire department, the two organizations combined to form the present organization. As such, it was admitted to the Prince Georges County Volunteer Firemen's Association and later in June 1955, to the Maryland State Fireman's Association and the State Rescue Squad Association.

These actions made the volunteer group eligible to share in the yield from the county fire tax in the 21st Election District.

Greenbelt's volunteer group also received $3,000 per year from the county commissioners. Another benefit which accrued to the volunteer organization was inclusion as a part of the county-wide central controlled fire and ambulance dispatching service, which included mutual-aid assistance.

When the present Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department & Rescue Squad, Inc., was formed, the city dedicated the two original 500 gpm pumpers to it. The group purchased a Class A 750 gpm American La France pumper which was delivered on Christmas Eve, 1957.

The new fire department building located on Crescent Rd. between St. Hugh's rectory and Parkway was completed in September, 1960 at a cost of $146,000. It was officially dedicated to the fire department by the city on July 4, 1961.

The building was equipped with a complete fire detection system which, in addition to having a local alarm, was connected to a master fire locator via a leased line to the County Fire Control Board. The youth center was also connected to the master fire locator via an underground line installed by the city. The major part of the installation in the fire department and youth center buildings was done by the volunteers, with work totaling well over 300 man-hours.

Parcels 3,4 Rezoning Hearing To Be Held Thurs., March 27

The Prince Georges County Planning Board will consider the rezoning application for Parcels 3 and 4 (A9329) on Thursday, March 27 at 9 a.m. at the County Administration Building in Upper Marlboro. The hearing was requested by the owners of the land (Burton J. Reiner, Theodore N. Lerner and H. Max Ammerman, Trustees).

The parcels, now zoned R-R (rural-residential), are located along the northern border of Greenbelt on the east and west, respectively, of Research Road.

The technical staff of the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission had recommended denial of the request for townhouse zoning (R-T - 10 units an acre) for the 10.2 acres, calling instead for single-family detached houses (R-80).

The Greenbelt-College Park Master Plan of March 1969 proposes that Parcel 3 remain single family (R-80) and Parcel 4 be developed with townhouses (R-T).

The application for rezoning, which was referred to the city by MNCPPC a year ago, aroused considerable anxiety among the residents of Greenbelt's North End. Several neighborhood meetings were held which resulted in a petition drive opposing townhouse zoning and favoring single family development. The city council, its two advisory boards and the board of Greenbelt Homes, Inc., also reacted unfavorably to the rezoning petitions. On March 12 council called for development of single family houses and directed its staff to prepare arguments opposing townhouse zoning. By then, more than 1,000 residents had signed petitions opposing R-T zoning.

The Report

In its January 1980 report the Technical Staff apparently agreed with Greenbelt's concern over the imbalance of housing types, in particular the lack of single family housing within the community.

Ladies Auxiliary

The Auxiliary was organized in 1955 and shortly thereafter became active in the Ladies Auxiliary to the Prince Georges County Volunteer Firemen's Association and also in the Ladies Auxiliary to the Maryland State Firemen's Association.

The kitchen at the 'old fire house' was approximately 8'x10' but the ladies carried on many successful fund-raising affairs by operating from their small domain. The completion of new quarters brought to them one of the most modern kitchens in the area.

The profits derived from fund-raising events are used to purchase needed items in the building as well as added equipment for the ambulances and fire trucks. The ladies have made it a yearly project to turn over to the men a cash contribution to be used within the department and are on call to assist in any manner possible.

Night Watch Opens Tomorrow

by Trix Whitehall

The first play to appear in Greenbelt's Utopia Theater will open Friday night, March 21, at 8:15 p.m. Night Watch, by Lucille Fletcher, will be presented by the Greenbelt Players, directed by Angela Schreiber, and sponsored by the Greenbelt Cultural Arts Center.

Elaine, the heroine of this suspenseful play, thinks there has been a murder next door. Will anyone believe her? The answer may be stranger than you think.

Members of the Greenbelt Cultural Arts Center have been working to refurbish the old theater for this performance. Walls have been painted, plumbing fixed and heat restored to the building.

Night Watch will be presented on March 21, 22, and 23, and March 28, 29, and 30.

Angela Schreiber, director of Night Watch, was active in community theater in South Bend, Indiana, as a director and actress at the University of Notre Dame. She has appeared in theater productions in the Washington area.

Janet Cripe, who plays Elaine, holds a degree in drama from Indiana University, also at South Bend, where she played a number of leading roles in productions in the university theater.

Bruce Freshman, who plays John, Elaine's husband, holds a degree in drama from West Virginia University. He appeared in many roles during his college years.

Judy Marshall, who plays Blanche, Elaine's best friend, has a degree in speech and drama from the University of Maryland. She has traveled throughout the state with the University's drama wing program, and was named outstanding drama student of 1973.

Greenbelt's Recommendation

A November 20 letter from James K. Giese, city manager of Greenbelt, indicates that the Greenbelt City Council recommends R-80 zoning for both parcels. "Rezoning to the R-T zone is not consistent with the objectives of the City Council to reduce the density of residential development and provide a better balance of housing units within the city... There is a great need to increase the city's stock of free standing homes. On the other hand the city's stock of row houses is more than adequate and its stock of rental apartments is excessive."

Happy Anniversary!

Happy Anniversary to the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department & Rescue Squad and to the Ladies Auxiliary! Surely no group of men and women in Greenbelt's history have been more closely intertwined with the heart and life line of this community in the most literal sense. It is hard to imagine that any family in Greenbelt has not in some way been helped by their dedication—from the basement flooding stemmed and the grease fire dowsed, to the newest citizen rushed off to safe delivery and the frailest invalid's life prolonged.

Some of the events in the 25-year history of the Fire Department & Rescue Squad have been spectacular. Who will ever forget that early morning blaze that gutted the Co-op supermarket? Or the great conflagrations in the Greenbelt Plaza apartments and at Springhill Lake—seven hours apart. Most recent was the disastrous blaze at Goddard Space Village Apartments. Delays in reporting accounted for the destructiveness of some of these; but the volunteer crew contained them all and put them out.

The Fire Department & Rescue Squad have always worked to educate people of the community in good safety practices. For many years, in cooperation with this newspaper, they sponsored a spring clean-up campaign to help reduce fire hazards. Many young people over the years have been attracted to the organization, undergoing rigorous training and learning to work for their community in the most significant ways. A group of such young men, in fact, formed the nucleus of the original organization; Many grew older along with the organization, all taking their places finally as senior members of the community. Members of the Ladies Auxiliary have served with equal dedication, providing refreshments for the men involved in arduous missions and taking the lead in fund-raising.

On this, their 25th anniversary, we express the gratitude of the community.

Applications are now being accepted for temporary summer positions with the Prince Georges County Department of Parks and Recreation. Positions available

Mishkan Torah Celebrates 25th Anniversary Sunday

by Elaine Skolnik

Special services on March 21 and 22, dinner and entertainment on March 22, and an Open House on March 23 will highlight the 25th anniversary celebration of the dedication of the Mishkan Torah sanctuary, (known as the Jewish Community Center of Prince Georges County until 1968). Over 200 persons are expected to attend the dinner.

History

In 1949, the JCC and community church groups persuaded a reluctant Federal Government to sell land which had been designated for church sites in the original plans for Greenbelt. The JCC conducted a whirlwind fund raising campaign and .79 acre of land on the corner of Westway and Ridge was purchased for $1,000.

When it became apparent in 1951 that construction costs would be prohibitive, members decided to build a sanctuary themselves. Thus began a project which competent professional contractors, called in for consultation, said could not be done by the unskilled, inexperienced JCC members. Undaunted, the group commenced the backbreaking job of clearing the land and digging the foundations. Working on weekends, holidays and summer evenings and vacations, the amateur carpenters, brick-layers and masons learned as they toiled, to the amazement of the contractors whose predictions had been so negative.

As the work progressed, contributions from contractors started pouring in. Not money, but much more valuable, bricks, sand, cinder blocks, cement, lumber, steel, windows, window frames, tools of all kinds, materials—the flesh and blood and bones of a building.

In the community, too, the fever spread. "Help JCC Days" were organized, in which all the church groups participated. Side by side, Catholics, Jews, Methodists, Baptists, Lutherans, all worked together.

The JCC women played a major role during the building's construction. They were the fund-raisers and the providers of sandwiches and cookies. It is said that the men could have bathed in the large quantities of lemonade that were bought down. Also, when the men declined to go up on the highest levels of scaffolding, a woman member and her 12-year-old son volunteered to finish the painting and shellac the exposed wood beams. Other projects included outfitting the kitchen and decorating the lobby.

Dedication

The building was completed and dedicated March 20, 1955. An additional three acres or ground adjacent to the building was purchased in 1961.

In the spring of 1969, ground was broken for an educational wing housing classrooms, library, and offices. Dedication ceremonies were held on December 12, 1971. Remodeling of the lobby area, restrooms and office in the original building occurred in 1976. During the following year the sanctuary was renovated. In 1978 a new library was dedicated in the outer lobby and the Religious School was awarded full affiliation by the Washington Board of Jewish Education.

A conservative and reconstructionist synagogue, Mishkan Torah has 200 member families. Rabbi Kenneth Berger has served the congregation as full-time spiritual leader since 1974. Cantor Donald Wiseman came to Mishkan Torah in 1968.

Open House

The Open House on Sunday, March 23 from 2:30 to 5:30 p.m. will feature presentations, exhibits and memorabilia. Greenbelters are invited to attend.

Family Square Dance

The Center School PTA is sponsoring a family square dance night, Friday, March 21, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the Center School gym. Young and old are invited, no experience is necessary. Punch will be provided. Participants are asked to bring a dessert to share with the group. Buzz Meyers from Bowie will be the caller.

Increased Rehab Costs

To the Editor:

I am very concerned over the continual "blooming" in the costs of the rehab and capital improvement programs. From data in the News Review, March 13, 1980, the additional items amount to $10.5 M when combined with the $6.4M and $5.2M already approved, this is $22.1M (not including the $1.2M outstanding loans to be refinanced). This amounts to an average of $14,067 for each of about 1571 homes. Actually, the amount will vary as to type of home. This is a lot of debt to be added even though part of the cost will be offset by a more economical heating system. I am wondering whether or not the cost of some items are over-estimated.

In particular, I refer to the $1.1 M for structural repair on the brick homes (termite damage and pointing up of mortar). I was told this cost would be borne by the 323 brick homes only. This amounts to $3406 for every brick home. I cannot believe that every home needs this and assuming that even 2/3 do need, that would be about 216 homes. This would be allow $5093 for each home needing this repair. This sounds ridiculous and $3,406 also appears much too high. Even at inflated prices I would think that a $500 range is more in line for each home needing this repair. Incidentally, I've read several articles advising not to sandblast brick homes because of damages to bricks and mortar. Shouldn't this method have been disallowed long ago? Could this have caused some of the need for pointing up of mortar?

It seems to me that some reassessment of costs should be made and try to keep the program within more reasonable bounds. I feel as though I'm caught up in something that's gone a little wild. I certainly do not feel inclined to vote for an increase in my costs of $3,406 for repairs that I feel sure I do not need, and also which appear to be grossly overstated.

I noticed that a City Councilman requested figures of projected monthly charges for the various types of homes. Since the members are to vote on the entire program on May 28, it would certainly be helpful for them to see even rough estimates of these monthly charges. Perhaps this data could be published in the News Review, well ahead of the planned informal meetings, to give ample time for thought and feedback.

Public Hearing Mar. 25 On School Busing Plan

A public hearing on recommendations from the Citizens Advisory Committee on Busing will be held by the Board of Education of Prince Georges County on Tuesday, March 25, at 7 p.m. at Eleanor Roosevelt Senior High School.

The special hearing is open for public comment and discussion. Speakers should also register in advance by calling the administrative office at 952-4325 for a specific time to address the Board.

The Board has not formally approved the recommendations from the advisory committee. The recommendations, as prepared by the committee, would alter the current busing operations by reassigning approximately 3,570 students to elemen-

A Parent's Viewpoint

To the Editor:

We have read Sandra Barnes' article on Mary Bethune Junior High School with considerable interest for we have a deep commitment to public education for our children and to the best use of our tax dollar to obtain that education. The reader of Ms. Barnes' article must realize that she writes from the viewpoint of a visitor (accompanied by the Principal!), not a parent who each night hears what has gone on in the school that day. She does not mention such problems as student attitudes that lead to disrupted classes so that no teaching can be done, or belligerent attitudes of some students toward others (deliberately knocking down a student on crutches, for an extreme example). Neither did she mention English teachers whose use of the language leaves something to be desired or other teachers with minimal command of their subject.

Of course, the location of the school, downwind from the foul atmosphere of the electric generating plant in the District, must have a debilitating effect on teachers and students alike. Has anyone ever measured the level of pollution in that area?

We have had two sons in Mary Bethune. Five years ago, when our first one attended, we were satisfied with the education he was receiving. This fall, as our second boy started his third year there, we pulled him out after two days. Why? Larger classes (43 in English); a general perception that the quality of teaching would not adequately prepare him for high school; and a strong feeling, based on many incidents over the two years that he attended Bethune, that almost nobody any longer cared about the students or the education they were receiving. The final incident happened 3 months after our son was withdrawn from the school, when we received a call from School letting us know that his attendance was "lagging recently." Accordingly to the school's erroneous records, our son was still enrolled and it took them three months to let us know that he wasn't going to classes! Did the school care about our son's education?

Space Travel Program

Space travel from Earth to Jupiter and Saturn is the topic of a new program offered to the public at the planetarium of the Howard B. Owens Science Center in Greenbelt. The program, "The Loneliness Factor," includes sky dramatizations based on film photographed by the Voyager missions to Jupiter and Saturn. The program will be offered at the Science Center on the first and third Tuesdays of each month until July 1, at 7 p.m., except on school holidays. There is an admission charge.

Greenbelt Cooperatives, To Expand, Plan New Store

Greenbelt Co-op will undergo an energy-saving facelift in early March and a new SCAN store will open in the Greenway Center by the end of the year, according to Greenbelt Cooperatives Inc. officials.

Chief Operating Officer Bob Satake said that the renovation of the Co-op supermarket will not inconvenience shoppers because most of the work will be done "behind the scenes."

"We hope that by making all our preparations beforehand, inconvenience to our shoppers will be minimized," said Satake. The store will not close during the renovation.

Nearly all of the old equipment will be replaced in the supermarket and the new equipment will feature an energy reclamation system that will recycle heat and cut oil use by 90 percent. New freezer cases will have doors, cutting energy use by 40 percent and will eliminate frost on the food, and a new lighting system will cut lighting costs in half.

Increased holding capacity for perishables and more behind-the-scene facilities and a greater emphasis on the store's service areas—the pharmacy and the bakery—will result from the renovation.

The SCAN store, planned for the Greenway Mall, will have approximately 13,000 square feet of space and will offer the usual line of SCAN furniture.

Twin Pines was founded to provide a source of financing for Greenbelt homeowners. In today's tight money market, with mortgages difficult to obtain, I believe it is more important than ever for Twin Pines' assets to be reinvested in loans within the Greenbelt community.

Konrad Herling

5809 Cherrywood Terrace

Konrad Herling, born in New York in February of 1953, moved with his family to 13-M Ridge in December of that same year. The son of Albert and Frances Herling, he was educated in Greenbelt schools and at the then new Parkdale High School. Herling attended Towson State University from 1971 to 1976, majoring in History and Secondary Education. In the fall of 1975 he student-taught at High Point High School in the areas of U.S. History, Latin American Studies and Political Science.

As a student at Towson State University, Konrad was a reporter for the "Towerlight," the school newspaper, participated on the debate team, and served as Student Government Association President. As President of the SGA, a speakers' series featuring Abba Eban and Carl Rowan was initiated. Also at that time, he worked closely with University and Baltimore County officials to make a dangerous street crossing safe.

Herling, a candidate for the Greenbelt City Council last year, campaigned on two basic issues: development of intra-city transportation and the conversion of the then vacant theatre into a cultural arts center. Shortly after the campaign's conclusion, spurred by the potential of a health spa occupying the space of the theatre, Herling worked with the council to set up a public hearing in which different viewpoints could be expressed by Greenbelt's citizens as to how best use the facility. After a most favorable response an ad hoc organization was set up to help run events at the theatre and to raise funds. More than $4,000 was raised during the month of December and the organization was eventually endorsed by the city council. In February, the organization officially became a non-profit corporation, Greenbelt Cultural Arts Center, Inc. Subsequently, the corporation elected its Board of Directors and Officers at which time Herling was elected President.

Currently, Herling works for the Federal Communications Commission as a legal clerk.

OPENINGS FOR GHI APPLICANTS FOR SECTION 8 GRANT PROGRAM STILL AVAILABLE

Section 8 is a grant program rather than a loan. It is available to GHI members primarily based upon family size and income as follows:

No. of Persons In Family	Maximum Income—	No. of Persons In Family	Maximum Income—
1	$13,550	4	19,300
2	15,500	5	20,550
3	17,400	6	21,800

Families whose gross incomes fall below these maximums should contact Mrs. Donna Bergmann, 474-6682. Applying now for the program in no way commits a family to participating when Section 8 takes effect; however, failure to apply early may prevent a family from participating later. Those who have already applied need not contact Mrs. Bergmann again; prior applicants are still being processed.

GREENBELT F.O.P. LODGE UNITES, SERVES POLICE

by Hally Ahearn

The Greenbelt Fraternal Order of Police, Lodge No. 32, recently elected new officers. The F.O.P. is an organization open to all sworn officers below the rank of chief. Like a union, it serves to voice the collective concerns of its members and, like a social club, it brings members and associate members and their families together.

Greenbelt's Lodge No. 32 has twenty-five members, which means every officer on the Greenbelt force is a member—except the chief. F.O.P. representatives appear before council as unofficial spokesmen, to present the organization's budget recommendations and justifications for the department. The official budget is presented to the council by the chief, although chief and F.O.P. generally collaborate on their recommendations.

According to Craze the F.O.P. may call on the council, as they did when members were concerned by the slow pace of police department renovations. Letters from the F.O.P. helped spur the council to expedite the work.

In another collective action, the F.O.P. drafted a letter to city employees concerning possible improvements to the employees' health care plan. City employees almost unanimously approved adding a rider to the policy, and city council voted to adopt the added protection for city employees.

The F.O.P. has associate members, interested citizens and other police department employees, who help to raise funds for the organization. Lodge No. 32's annual bake sale in the center always features a cake raffle. The special cake, baked by an associate member, may be shaped and decorated to resemble a patrol car, an officer's patch, a star-shaped F.O.P. insignia. Funds raised are used to sponsor social events, send flowers in the event of a birth or death in a member's family, and to make donations to Children's Hospital, 32's special charity.

Lodge No. 32's social event of the year is a splash party, held in August, that continues from 10 a.m. until the wee hours of the next day so that everyone, no matter what shift he or she works, gets a chance to participate. Families, associate members, state's attorneys who have helped the department with special investigations and friends from the state police are invited. A splash party is also held after the fireworks on the 4th of July. Everyone on the force has worked at least twelve hours on that day.

Lodge 32 is one of forty-eight lodges in the state chapter, which is a member of the national lodge. Not all municipal police departments have an F.O.P. organization; some join forces with other municipal departments to create a lodge. Some, like the 650-member P.G. County Police Lodge, have enough members to support a lodgehouse with perhaps a lounge, a bar and recreational facilities. There are some 6,000 to 7,000 lodges across the country.

The new officers of Greenbelt Police Lodge No. 32, Fraternal Order of Police are: James R. Craze, President; Thomas M. Ceccarelli, Vice President; Michael D. Craddock, Secretary; Kenneth L. Stair, Treasurer;

GHI Votes to Move Quickly On Converting Heating System

by Mary Lou Williamson

The Greenbelt Homes, Inc., Board of Directors voted unanimously on March 5 to convert its old heating system as soon as possible with the hope that all or most of the work can be completed before next winter. The board also agreed that the new system for both heat and domestic hot water should be individually controlled and metered and fueled by electricity.

In making its recommendations to the board, management has found that the initial installation of baseboard resistance heating would be much simpler and less costly than any other option — gas, electric hot air or heat pump. For a variety of reasons, management did not favor the municipal solid waste incineration system which it has been looking into for several years. In addition, Washington Gas Light, the local supplier of natural gas, could not guarantee a sufficient supply for all of GHI or even for the four large plants in the North End.

While the board was not yet ready to settle on specific details, it is expected that individual members will have the option to select either the traditional baseboard or the space-age radiant heat panels that would be mounted on the ceiling, or possibly a combination of both.

At the same time, the board voted 6 to 2 to proceed with the entire rehabilitation program. Directors Virginia Moryadas and Ed James preferred to move ahead with the approval of the heating conversion first and then the remainder of the rehabilitation plans several months later. Though acknowledging that their route might delay the start of conversion, the majority of the board agreed with management that financing constraints require putting everything into one package.

Last September, HUD committed $6.4 million at 3 percent interest to finance what is now called Phase I rehabilitation. Last month GHI received a preliminary "go ahead" from the city council to use tax-exempt revenue bonds for financing a portion ($5.2m) of Phase II. The city is expected to approve revenue bond financing of Phases II, III, IV — estimated to cost a total of $16.9m — before the membership is asked to approve those portions of rehabilitation they have not already voted on. (Phase I and most of Phase II were overwhelmingly approved at a special membership meeting last August.)

The board also adopted the schedule management had drawn up outlining steps leading to the rehabilitation vote now scheduled for late May. (See box.)

The board, management and these few members present seemed generally satisfied with the outcome of the evening's voting. The arguments, leading up to those votes, however, had been strongly expressed and attacks, at times had been personal, leading Director Bobbi McCarthy to plead with fellow board members to be civil to each other for the sake of the corporation. The board has found much frustration in its efforts to cut into the spiraling costs of maintaining the homes, costs which the membership seems little disposed to pay.

Daniel P. O'Neil, Guard; John A. Lann, State Trustee. David N. Fulgham is the outgoing president. The new officers will serve for two years.

DON'T TAKE CHANCES!

If you smell gas, call 750-1000 promptly!

Gas leaks may occur from faulty appliances, loose connections, service lines inside or outside your home, or from gas mains. Such leaks should be dealt with immediately by experts.

We add a disagreeable odor to natural gas to warn people in case any gas should escape.

If you ever smell gas — even if you do not use it in your home — take these precautions promptly:

1. Call Washington Gas at 750-1000.
2. If the odor is strong and you are indoors, open windows and doors to ventilate. Call us from a neighbor's house.
3. Do not turn any electrical switches on or off.
4. Do not light matches, smoke cigarettes or create any sources of combustion.

However slim the chance of danger, don't take any chances. Call us if you smell gas.

Never use your gas range or oven to heat a home or apartment. This is extremely dangerous.

Two More Cable TV Companies, Two Different Recommendations

by Leta Mach

The parade of cable TV companies before council continued at the March 3, regular session. While Prince Georges Community Cablevision Corporation advised council to wait and see what a county-wide system would offer, Cox Cable of Prince George's County, Inc., presented its case for a city franchise.

Because of economics, Thomas Dugan of Prince Georges Community Cablevision asked council to "hold your horses, if you were entertaining riding them." In his opinion, companies with small franchises won't be able to offer the same services as one that serves the county. The county will be taking sealed bids in August. Barber, also from Cablevision, felt the city could sign with the cable company serving the county in the fall and receive a better deal. One advantage they felt the county-wide system could offer would be 52 channels instead of 32. Barber also stated that it was economically impossible for one individual system to offer two-way services such as security and medical alerts. These facilities would require a control system operated 24 hours a day. It would be possible and less expensive in a larger system because corporate overhead which includes such things as antennas and a billing system could be spread over more subscribers.

Barber expressed the view that the applications already filed with individual cities "lack substantive information" such as the number and location of antennas.

Councilman Thomas White asked about shared use of the theater as a studio with the Cultural Arts Center. Dugan replied that his company was interested.

Geographically, he felt Greenbelt was a prime location for a studio and noted that the building already exists. However, they had not yet been able to contact the owner.

Cox Cable TV

Jane Simmons of Cox Cable TV asked council to let the company know how it wanted the theater used. Mayor Gil Weidenfeld explained that council's interest in cable TV was "motivated by an empty theater." Simmons stated that the company would like to have its engineers examine the building to determine whether shared use is feasible.

Cox representatives emphasized that the company was financially sound—the fourth largest and also the oldest (since 1962) cable TV company. The services it offered were similar to those offered by the other companies which have appeared before council. These included Madison Square Garden Sports, children's programming, congressional coverage, and access channels for local government, medical and educational systems. Another company representative, Carl Holmes, called the pricing "fair" and noted that 3% would be re-

CITY NOTES

The men's locker room in the Police Dept. was painted. Work was also done in the interrogation room.

Because of snow and freezing rain on March 13 and 14, several workers concentrated their efforts on keeping the streets and sidewalks clear.

The ball field at North End Elementary School was aerated and seeded and is now ready for use. Work was also started on Ballfield No. 3, Braden Field. Some of the older picnic tables were repaired and are now ready for use.

The old base of the light pole in the east parking lot was dug out. New base will be poured when the weather clears. Some curb and gutter on Crescent Road was backfilled. Catch basins were cleaned.

Rita L. Reid began working with the Public Works Department recently. She has been assigned to the buildings maintenance crew.

turned to Greenbelt.

White asked why Cox offices were in Montgomery County. Simmons replied that it was central to all the places she needed to drive. Roger Pierce, Cox's Mid-east regional manager, noted that if the company got a franchise in Greenbelt, it would normally locate offices here.

Scholarships Available

The Maryland State Scholarships Board is accepting nominations for the Distinguished Scholar Awards for the top 100 academic students in the state's public and private secondary schools. Applications are open to students entering their senior year in September 1980 and who have maintained a grade point average of 3.7 on a 4.0 scale over the past three years. Unlike other state scholarship programs, the Distinguished Scholar Awards are not based on financial need.

Distinguished scholar recipients must attend a Maryland college or university in 1981-82, and may apply for three additional yearly renewals if a "B" average is maintained.

Students interested in applying should contact their school guidance counselor or the Office of Guidance Services of the Prince Georges County Public Schools at 952-4326.

Animal Control Begins at Home

by Carol Pelosi

No one really knows how many dogs and cats are born in the United States each year, but estimates range from 2,000 to 10,000 AN HOUR! This is roughly 5 to 25 times the human birth rate. Thus, a total of from 17 to 50 million dogs and cats are born each year. Since there are only about 48 million families in the entire country, increasing numbers of animals are homeless. The capture, impoundment, and eventual destruction of unwanted animals costs taxpayers and private humanitarian agencies many millions of dollars each year.

As in the rest of the country, the problem of surplus animals in Greenbelt has become increasingly serious. During 1979, 204 lost, stray, or unwanted dogs and cats were turned over to the Greenbelt Animal Warden. Such animals can only be kept for a few days waiting for someone to claim or adopt them. Then they must be sent to the Prince Georges Animal Control Facility, where they face an almost certain death.

Besides these animals turned over to the Animal Warden, many other unwanted animals in Greenbelt were sent directly to the Animal Control Facility, given to humane organizations, taken in by sympathetic Greenbelters, or just abandoned to roam from house to house, begging for handouts.

Responsibility for animal population control begins with individual pet owners. Even if pet owners find someone to adopt each of their pet's offspring, every puppy or kitten placed eliminates a potential home for another animal. To make sure that a pet does not contribute to the problem of overpopulation, female pets should be spayed or male pets neutered. A female cat or dog can be spayed as early as 6 or 7 months of age, and a male can be neutered as early as 7 to 10 months. A veterinarian can recommend the best time.

In addition to reducing animal population, spaying or neutering has many other advantages. It eliminates blood stains on carpets and furniture, and usually stops tomcats from spraying strong-smelling urine on furniture and drapes to mark their territory. The pets no longer have annoying or menacing suitors for the owners to contend with, there is no need to confine a pet during "heat" periods, and there are no unwanted litters to take care of or try to find homes for. The pets will usually become less aggressive and more gentle and affectionate—more likely to stay home, devoting attention to the family.

The Bowie Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has a spay and neuter program in Prince Georges County which provides this service at a greatly reduced price. For more information, call the SPCA at 262-5625.

'Run Against Cancer'

A "Run Against Cancer in honor of Hennie Lichtenberger" will be held on Sunday, May 18 at 9 a.m. at Greenbelt Park. T-shirts will be awarded to the first 500 registrants, prizes to the first three finishers in the following categories: Open, 15 and under, 16-29, 30-39, 40-49, 50 and over. There is an entry fee which will benefit the American Cancer Society.

The run is being sponsored by Capitol Cadillac. For further information, call Jan Cochenour at 864-7361.

Police Blotter

Several breaking and enterings were reported in different parts of the city. One occurred in the 7800 block of Mandan Road. Property valued at $250 was stolen.

A breaking and entering occurred at High's store on Centerway. Approximately $600 was stolen.

A residence on Research Road was entered. Several weapons—a semi-automatic handgun and rifle—were reported stolen.

The party room located on the second floor of the Greenbriar Community House was entered and two stereo speakers were taken.

Cpl. James R. Craze and Officer Terrance M. McGrath responded to a loud noise complaint at a residence in the 9100 block of Edmonston Road. They were informed by residents of the building that an adult male had been observed outside one of the apartments wearing stockings over his hands. Investigation resulted in the arrest of one occupant of the building for breaking and entering, and destruction of property. The defendant entered an apartment and destroyed property valued at over $3,700.

A local adult female was observed by an employee of the A & P placing merchandise in her coat. She then attempted to exit the store. Pfc. Michael D. Craddock charged her with theft.

A 1977 Buick Regal, blue and white in color, D.C. registration 466-097, was stolen from the 9000 block of Breezewood Terrace. The vehicle has not been recovered.

Chief Lane served on the Promotion Board for the Town of Bladensburg to help select two sergeants to fill vacant positions on the Bladensburg Police Force.

Officer Fred E. Murray and Thomas R. Justin have been promoted to the rank of Patrolman First Class.

Detective Corporal E. Brumley attended a two-day seminar at the University of Maryland Law Enforcement Institute dealing with New Techniques in Conducting Interviews.

Crime Prevention Tips
Burglars Like Lots of Mail.

Yours. It tells them that you are not at home. And "come on in." Why make it easy? When you are gone, have the Post Office hold your mail. Or have a good neighbor pick up your mail for you.

Hold your purse close, not dangling. Do not carry large sums of money, but if absolutely unavoidable, carry the money on your person rather than in your purse. Know where your purse is at all times — this includes when placing ones purse down in a grocery cart or while trying on shoes or clothes. Do not leave your purse open. Keep the clasp facing so that if it should open, it will open toward you. When your arms are full of shopping bags, place your purse carefully inside a bag.

Home burglary prevention tip, Maryland Crime Watch: Closed drapes make a burglar feel at home. He likes an unoccupied home, and likes working out of sight. When you're away, leave drapes and window shades in normal position so your home looks occupied.

GHI NOTES

For the past two weeks, GHI staff and HUD officials have been looking at homes throughout the community. A total of 150 homes throughout GHI will be viewed for the purpose of determining what additional rehabilitation GHI may need to perform in order to qualify for GNMA tandem financing. This type of financing for rehabilitation has even more favorable interest rates—7-8%—than city revenue bond financing—projected to be about 8-9% or more by the time bonds are able to be floated. GHI regrets the inconvenience this inspection has caused some members.

GHI is still accepting applications for Section 8 which will provide a grant to low-income families to meet their monthly charges after the rehabilitation work is completed on their home. (See ad elsewhere in this paper.) Please contact Donna Bergmann, Section 8 Coordinator, 474-5566, if you think you might qualify.

May 1 is the deadline for filing for income tax credits. Both those under 60 and over 60 years of age may apply. Applications forms are available at the GHI offices.

Parent Group Shares Concerns on Safety Issues, Academic Program at Mary Bethune

by Sandra Barnes

Spilling over with feelings—pro and con—about Mary Bethune Junior High School parents attended a meeting Sunday night, March 16, called by the Greenbelt School Study Committee. The meeting was chaired by Howard Savage.

Nearly 50 parents and prospective parents filled council chambers to share problems they had encountered at the school or to try to resolve existing or potential problems. As a result of the meeting, many decided to join subcommittees to work on specific problem areas. The subcommittees plan to meet again Monday, March 24, at the home of Howard Savage. Anyone interested in attending should contact Savage, 474-4904, or Eileen Peterson, 345-2454.

A number of positive comments were made about the school. Some parents whose children had attended the school in the past felt Mary Bethune provided a sound education and noted in particular good follow-through and good communications with faculty and administrators. Another parent stated that he often visited the school on an impromptu basis and was always warmly received by the teachers.

However, most of the two and one half hour session centered around problems at Bethune. These were defined into the following areas: locked bathrooms, school safety and the academic program. Also, there was considerable dissatisfaction concerning several specific teachers who 1) lacked competency in a subject area, 2) ate lunch during class time or 3) indicated indifference to students by having a duplicate key made or the lock changed to a language lab which subsequently remained locked for 4½ months.

Heated discussion took place over the bathroom issue. Some parents learned for the first time that the bathrooms above the first floor are always locked. While individual teachers are in charge of the keys to these bathrooms, many students reportedly did not know which teacher had the key. If they did know, they would be reluctant to break into a teacher's class to ask for a key, stated one parent. Some parents were astonished to find that their sons and daughters might not be using the restroom facilities at Bethune and even more so to learn that the rooms not only had to be opened by a teacher but that, once inside, the student was locked in and had to rely on the teacher to once again unlock the door to be let out. What would happen in case of a fire, one parent asked.

As several parents stated it, while the locked bathrooms may be prevalent throughout the school system, they seemed symptomatic of some greater problem which the school system had not solved.

In defense of the locked bathrooms, Administrative Assistant Frank Bartos, who had not been invited to the meeting but came because he heard it was to take place, stated that bathrooms were locked because of smoking problems, primarily by students from Greenbelt and Cheverly; vandalism to doors and paper towel holders, and graffiti, usually racial. In addition, he stated, students often try to use the bathroom as an excuse to get out of class and wander the halls.

School Safety

School safety was an issue that many parents addressed by relating personal experiences of their offspring. One parent told of her son being harassed while waiting for the school activity bus, with other students from Bethune taking his books and ripping his papers. Since then, the mother stated, the English teacher makes a practice of taking a number of Greenbelt kids home. In addition, the music teacher also drives students home rather than have them face unpleasant experiences on the activity bus.

One parent related that she knew of a student on crutches whose crutches were pulled away while he was knocked down. One girl was reportedly thrown down a flight of stairs while the Physical Education teacher looked on. What distressed many parents was the view that some teachers left the room when fights broke out between students. In response, Bartos replied that he did not excuse the behavior of a teacher who might leave a room during a fight, but teachers nowadays are afraid of lawsuits if they touch a child or are afraid that they will be accused of racial prejudice.

Some parents were a bit indignant at this response. Where was the teacher's sense of responsibility? Lesley Kreimer, school board member also attending the meeting, stated that the school board will back teachers who use good judgment, and sometimes even when they don't. Moreover, the teachers have a professional association which will back them if a lawsuit is threatened.

Kreimer also commented that the school board was seeing more cases than usual calling for a teacher's dismissal. However, most teachers are pressured into resigning rather than face dismissal by the Board of Education. Kreimer stressed that principals do have authority to dismiss teachers, or force them to seek additional training if they are weak in some areas. However, she noted, it takes at least a year to get rid of a "bad" teacher, in addition to diligence and documentation by parents and administrators.

Bartos related that in his three and a half years as administrative aide at Mary Bethune, he had not known of a case in which retribution was sought after a bullying incident was brought to the attention of school personnel. And, he stated emphatically, if the administrators know of such incidents, they do take action and they do suspend students. But the authorities cannot do anything if they are not told or are told several weeks after the fact. Several parents who had confronted the administration with acts of harassment confirmed what Bartos said and praised school personnel for prompt action. Moreover, knowing that parents and school administrators will back a kid helps him to gain confidence in himself and in the system, one parent noted.

Academics

The third area of concern involved the academic program at Bethune. Parents seemed generally satisfied with the seventh grade program, but aspects of the eighth and ninth grade programs needed scrutiny, many thought. Several voiced the opinion that their son or daughter was bored with the program, not stimulated enough. Kreimer responded that the school had an obligation to find suitable programs for kids and that teachers should be required to meet the needs of individual students.

Were the Bethune students adequately prepared for Roosevelt in the tenth grade was a question many had. And many seemed to think not, particularly in the math and language areas. While Roosevelt might skim off the best students for its ninth grade technical program, what happens to those students who remain at Bethune because they either did not make the tech center at Roosevelt or were not interested in a program which stressed math and science rather than the humanities?

These areas of concern will be addressed by the individual subcommittees as they meet further on items related to Mary Bethune Junior High.

Also attending the meeting was Mike Miller, a counselor at the school. Some parents attending the meeting were currently sending their youngsters to a private school and some would not be sending sons or daughters to Bethune for several years—but most seemed committed to public education and working to change those things which demanded positive action.

Program on Hospice Care

On Monday, March 24 at 7:30 p.m. in the Meeting Room, the Greenbelt Library is cooperating with Prince Georges General Hospital to present a slide/lecture program entitled: "Hospice Care and Terminal Illness in Prince Georges County—helping the terminally ill to live actively and well." Health care professionals will present the program, which will be followed by a question and answer period.

Newspaper and magazine articles, as well as books, have made the public aware of the ways in which hospice care offers a better way for terminally ill patients to live out their lives, as well as providing help and support for those who are intimately involved with them. This library program will focus on what is being done and what can be done in the county. It is hoped that citizens will bring their questions and concerns to share with neighbors. An interpreter for the deaf and hearing-impaired will be available.
